

Quo vadis, Theology?

Theology in the context of public sphere

Call for Abstracts

for the conference of the international network “Theology in Times of Crises”

between Bochum (Germany) and Zagreb (Croatia)

16. and 17. April 2024 at the University of Zagreb

Participation via Zoom will be possible!

Social transformation dynamics, the experience of multiple crises and developments of increasing de-traditionalisation are increasingly challenging the role of theology in the public sphere. This is also increasingly taking place from a global perspective, which questions the relevance of theology on the basis of a transnational expansion.

The conference offers researchers in theology and related disciplines the opportunity to present and discuss their own research foci in the context of this topic. All interested parties are therefore invited to submit an abstract (approx. 500 words) for a presentation (30 min) followed by a discussion (20 min) by e-mail to marius.debyl@rub.de or mgrcevic1@gmail.com by

29. February 2024.

Possible presentation topics:

- Political dimensions of theology
- Religious education in contemporary contexts
  - Ecumenical relations
- Transnational and contextual perspectives in theology
  - Interdisciplinary approaches to theology
  - ...

Following the conference, the publication of an anthology is planned.
